2012 AHR Expo Sets Attendance Record

AHR PRESS RELEASE

The 2012 AHR Expo established a new all-time attendance record with nearly 40,000 registered visitors for the recently concluded event at Chicago's McCormick Place. Including exhibitor personnel and other attendees, more than 57,000 HVAC&R professionals participated in the world's largest HVAC&R event from Jan. 23 - 25. Based on preliminary registration numbers, the 2012 Show will easily surpass the previous record of 38,534 visitors established at the 2008 Show in New York City. This year's Show was also the largest AHR Expo in the 82-year history of the event, with nearly 430,000 ft² (40 000 m²) of net exhibit space.

The Chicago weather was mild but the aisles of the 2012 AHR were storming with optimism for a good year in the making. We were very fortunate to meet many of our longtime loyal Duro Dyne customers, as well as many new prospects. The majority of those attending were people from North America, although there was ample international representation as well.

The Duro Dyne sales team actively demonstrated many of our products, both old and new. One of the highlights was the latest in our Saber Screw® line. The new 10x3/4 screw with a 5/16th high head drive quickly got the attention of many customers as it self pierced and threaded into two pieces of 20 gauge galvanized steel with ease.

We were also highlighting the benefits of our Flipstix® self adhesive hangers. Flipstix allow for quick and easy installation to the sheet metal and will accommodate insulation of any thickness up to 2 ½ inches. Flipstix® can be used for both exterior wrap and interior lining. The product is produced in compact sleeves that allows for easy handling. Shelf space is reduced by 75%, compared to the traditional Dynastick product.

Prominently displayed were our new Dyn-O-Vent grilles, registers and diffusers, as well as our new Duro Dyne Aviation Snips and many configurations of our Dyna-Tite hanging systems.

AHR published that it was a record show with attendance of more than 57,000. From my standpoint, I believe it was indeed an excellent show for Duro Dyne and look forward to a very active 2012.

Congratulations to Don Pinkerton

...on his 40th anniversary as a Duro Dyne West employee. Don started with Duro Dyne on January 10, 1972 as a machine operator in our connector department in the Vernon, California facility. He then became Shop Supervisor and as a result of his hard work and dedication to the company he was once again promoted to his present position of Plant Manager.

Don is a vital person in our Duro Dyne West operation. We wish to thank him for his contribution and loyalty to the company.

And More Congrats

We are very pleased to announce that Doug Cail has been promoted from his prior position of Duro Dyne Territory Manager to National Sales Manager, Western Region.

Doug joined Duro Dyne in 1988 and has devoted the past 24 years to improving sales in his Western territory. His home in Washington State has been his headquarters and he has always shown great ability to work as a Duro Dyne team player, overcoming problems during challenging times. Doug will continue to maintain responsibility for his sales territory in the Northwest, along with western Canada, supporting Duro Dyne Canada.

And

We're also very pleased to announce that David Krupnick has been promoted from his prior position of Duro Dyne Territory Manager to National Sales Manager, Eastern Region.

David has been with Duro Dyne since 1996 and for the past 16 years has worked in the Eastern region as one of our top Territory Managers. David has provided unwavering support for Duro Dyne and his new position will allow him to take on the responsibility of those Territory Managers in his charge.

Please join us in congratulating both Doug and David for jobs well done and for these notable promotions. We wish them both much success.
